Occupancy permit plan

By HARRY BARNES
Press-Record Staff Writer

Persons moving into a Granite City dwelling—either rented or newly purchased—would be required to obtain an occupancy permit based on a city inspection of the property and its compliance with a strict code of minimum housing standards, according to an ordinance placed on first reading by the City Council Monday night.

The bill, which also outlines a long list of housing requirements, provides a fee of $15 for each inspection and a fee of $2 for each occupancy permit issued.

The ordinance, offered for first reading by Alderman Roy Poulos, chairman of the Ordinance Committee, specifies that its objectives are to protect the character and stability of residential areas within the city, to provide minimum standards for cooking, heating and sanitary equipment necessary to the health and safety of occupants of buildings, and to prevent additions or alterations to existing dwellings that would be injurious to the life, health, safety or general welfare of the occupants.

Enforcement of the new law, if it is passed by the council, would be handled by the city building inspector.

The bill established standards which housing must meet to qualify for occupancy, including requirements already established in other city ordinances such as the plumbing, electrical and sanitation codes.

Regulations of the 18-page document set specific requirements for foundations, chimneys, basement construction, exterior walls, roofs, grading and drainage, conditions of windows doors and hatchways and stairways and porches.

The ordinance sets out that the new law does not affect existing occupancies, but will be applied to all occupancies following adoption of the ordinance.

One phase of the ordinance provides that utility firms may not turn on utility services in homes to be occupied until the occupancy permit is issued.

Some specific terms of the new bill are as follows:

"The Building Commissioner is authorized to enter any dwelling dwelling unit, multi-family dwelling, rooming house, or premises at any reasonable time for the purpose of performing his duties under this code. The owner, operator, or occupant of every dwelling, multi-family dwelling, dwelling unit, rooming unit, or the person in charge thereof, shall give the (Continued on Page 9)

Doerr, Buehler defeated

By GARY SCHNEIDER
Press-Record Staff Writer

Incumbent District 26 Madison County Board member Louis Whitsell, supervisor of Nameoki Township, fought off spirited competition from Edgar A. Patrick, the township's former tax collector, to retain his county board seat in balloting Tuesday.

But two other local incumbents were unable to retain their county board seats—Albert E. Doerr and Carl V. Buehler.

Whitsell tallied 891 votes to 735 for Patrick. The third aspirant in the District 26 race, Bill Gibbons, received 188 votes. In District 21, vigorous campaigning by young Daniel J. Partney gave him 745 votes and that board position over the incumbent, Buehler, who had 521 votes.

In the third contested Quad-City county board race, Walter "Dick" Sparks, Chouteau Township supervisor, regained his former county post from the incumbent, Doerr, a South Roxana resident, in District 16 balloting.

Sparks, who had been on the board until two years ago, collected 628 votes Tuesday while Doerr received 293. William Thoske finished a strong second in the race, tallying 566 votes.

Two board posts from the Quad-City area were not contested. Nelson Hagnauer, Granite City Township supervisor and chairman of the county board, received 1,364 votes as he was re-elected to the District 20 seat.

William B. Webb was re-elected in District 19 with 1,173 ballots. Votes for Hagnauer in Granite City Precincts 16-19-20. (Continued on Page 10)

Briggs, Bowles winners

By WILLIAM F. WINTER
Editor

The Quad-City provides well over half of the Madison County Democratic votes for many of those nominated in the 1974 primary election Tuesday.

With 13,677 Quad-Cityans going to the polls, local residents gave generous support to two out-of-town candidates successful in races against Quad-Cityans.

Miss Evelyn Bowles, Edwardsville, new Madison County clerk nominee, trailed here by only 4,841 to 6,047 for Granite City Assessor Von Des Cruse as she scored a 15,900—8,621 countywide victory. Robert Grayson Jr., of Granite City totaled 2,222, including 898 in the Quad-City.

County Treasurer George Musso, Edwardsville, gained renomination in a relatively close race. Prevailing in the county by only 13,702—12,097, Musso rolled up a 7,089—3,965 lead here over Michael Henkhaus, a court employee from Mitchell.

Sheriff John Maeras of Madison won the Democratic primary 17,063 to 4,665 for William Kirkpatrick, Bethalto, and 3,567 for Thomas Hammond, Venice. Their Quad-City tallies were 6,749 to 1,216 to 1,200.

For nomination as superintendent of the Madison County Educational Service Region, Harold E. "Gene" Briggs of Nameoki Township defeated Vasil Eftimoff of Granite City 15,620 to 9,289, including an edge here of 6,452—4,768.

In addition to the close county treasurer race, there was a hard-fought battle for a circuit judge nomination between Victor Mosele, Alton, an appointed holder of that position, and William E. "Bill" Johnson, an associate judge residing in rural Edwardsville.

Mosele was given a 5,000—6,563 (Continued on Page 10)

Denny Regan, 61 University, Granite City, is an infielder on the Forest Park Community College St. Louis varsity baseball team. The Highlanders opened their season with a tour of the South, including Memphis, Tenn., Savannah, Miss., and Jackson, Tenn.

Coach Jim Frisella's Forest Park nine will begin its home season with a doubleheader against Lakeland Community College of Mattoon, Ill., March 24. Forest Park is a member of the Missouri Junior College Athletic Conference and is a college of the Junior College District of St. Louis-St. Louis County.

Hockey crown battle Friday

The Pee Wee "B" squad of the Granite City Amateur Ice Hockey Association will meet Valley of Florissant Friday to determine the championship in the Winterland Invitational Hockey Tournament at Creve Coeur, Mo.

The local squad defeated Valley 2-1 in the first round of competition two weeks ago and downed Clayton 2-1 March 11 to advance to the semi-finals.

Monday they defeated Creve Coeur 4-3 in sudden death overtime to earn the right to meet Valley for the tourney crown.

The tournament is a double-elimination event with two losses eliminating each team. If the Granite City Pee Wees should lose tomorrow, they would meet Valley again for the championship. If the local squad should win tomorrow, Valley would be eliminated because of its loss to Granite City in the first round.

Champion in Tennessee U. ball team's infield

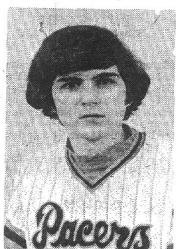

With the weather looking more like spring each day, baseball activity shifted into high gear at the University of Tennessee at Martin as the Pacers began to put on finishing touches in preparation for their season opener less than two weeks away.

Short on experience but deep in talent, UT Martin will be a new team at virtually every position this spring. First-year coach David Warmbrod characterizes the 1974 Pacers as a team that has made tremendous strides toward developing into a contender for the Gulf South Conference eastern division crown.

"We could have as many as five or six freshmen in the lineup for our first game but they're not the run-of-the-mill rookies," he added. "I like their hustle and enthusiasm. They just seem to get things going."

Warmbrod said the team will have an abundance of speed this spring and will likely play an altogether different brand of baseball.

"We're awfully quick in the infield and I'll match our outfield against any," he remarked. "I look for us to run more and do more things of fensively, too."

Heading the list of probable starters is first baseman Brett Champion of Granite City. A former standout athlete at Granite City High School, where he lettered in both baseball and basketball, he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Champion, No. 6 Frontenac Lane.

A freshman who throws right-handed and bats left-handed, he is 6-2 and weighs 185.

Hockey tournament will open Monday

For the four "B" division squads of the Granite City Amateur Ice Hockey Association, season-long efforts will be culminated next week when the association's season ending four-day tournament gets under way, starting Monday, at the Wilson Park Ice Rink.

Granite City meets Clayton, Mo., at 5:30 p.m. Monday and Innermost faces Valley at 6:45 p.m., both in the Squirt division. The Midgett lineups Monday are Spanish Lake vs. Kirkwood at 8 p.m. and Granite City vs. Valley at 9:15 p.m.

On Tuesday, the Pee Wee squads take to the ice with Granite City meeting Spanish Lake at 5:30 p.m., and Innermost playing Kirkwood at 6:45.

Bantam division competition will have West County meeting Creve Coeur at 8 p.m. Tuesday and Granite City and Clayton competing at 9:15.

Consolation games Wednesday begin at 5:30 p.m. for the Squirts, at 6:45 p.m. for the Pee Wees, at 8 p.m. for the Bantams and at 9:15 p.m. for the Midgets.

Championship contests are scheduled to begin at 5:30 p.m. Thursday with Squirt game winners, followed at 6:45 by the Pee Wees, 8 p.m. by Bantam winners and 9:15 p.m. by the Midgets.

"A" division teams will conduct their tournament Saturday, March 30, and Sunday, March 31, at the ice rink here.

Rules meeting Tuesday

The Illinois High School Association will conduct a baseball rules interpretation meeting for umpires who will serve as arbiters of interscholastic baseball games this season at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, March 26, at Belleville West High School.

DeWayne Galliaresi has been assigned to interpret the rules which are based on the National Alliance Baseball Code. He will devote part of the session to the mechanics and procedures of umpiring.

Harry Fitzhugh, executive secretary of the IHSAA, said that because of the great interest shown throughout the state in high school baseball the association is expanding its umpire training program with training sessions such as the one Tuesday in Belleville. High school baseball coaches and athletic administrators also are invited to attend the meeting.

Spring heralds baseball debut

By KEN THOMPSON

Press-Record Sports Writer
A warm spring sun casting its rays on a rooftop, hot dog and popcorn munching crowd of spectators... the pitch... a loud echoing crack, and another home run is registered for the home team.

Hopefully, that will be the scene next week when Quad City baseball fans help three of the area's four high schools usher in the 1974 baseball season. Granite City High School North and South and Madison, Venice will begin its season April 2.

South's Warriors kick off the new season at 4 p.m. Monday on the road at Roxana. North's Stealers play host to Mater Dei of Breese at 4 p.m. Tuesday, and the Madison Trojans host East St. Louis Lincoln in a 4 p.m. game Wednesday.

Also Wednesday, the two Granite City high schools meet on the diamond at Wilson Park at 4 p.m. in the first baseball contest ever to be played between the two.

Both Warrior Coach Conrad "Babe" Champion and Steeler head mentor Robert Stegemeyer view their teams' opening games as "player position proving games and reshuffling contests."

Champion and Stegemeyer both said they had good talent out this year, they would be taking a long hard look at them in the first games.

"The boys are still jockeying for positions," they agreed, "and have to earn the right to fill key positions."

GCHS South, with a 10-11 record last year, appears to hold a slight edge in experience over last year's GCHS North. The Warriors have 10 senior lettermen, five new seniors and 15 juniors from which to select.

The Stealers acquired one senior letterman from South with the creation last year of the new high school. Stegemeyer has 11 seniors and 19 juniors to work with.

"We are pretty set in the outfield," said Stegemeyer. "With our only letterman, Lawrence Petri, setting the pace for the others."

"Our biggest question mark," he continued is third base and shortstop. We have no one with varsity experience at those spots."

Stealers hoping to earn a spot in the starting nine are: Pitchers—seniors David Heh, Everett Martin, Dennis McBride and Cary Simpson, and juniors Bernard Courtney, Daris Davis, Mark Davis, William Dickerson, John Scott, and Mike Waldo.

Catchers—seniors Keith Lucas, Jeff Reiter and Leonard Wright. Shortstops—senior John Harding, and juniors Harvey Breckner and John Wolf.

Outfield—seniors Dennis Hahan, Paul Stajduhar and Petri, and juniors Steve Reinegal, Mark Sprankle and Joe Sunderlik.

Two North players who may join the team later in the season are senior Don Lloyd and junior Bill Carr. Lloyd still is nursing a leg injury received in fall sports and Carr is suffering a shoulder dislocation from the South Sectional Wrestling Tournament.

Mushill, Dave Patton and Larry Rabon.

South has a 26 game season scheduled, which includes 14 Southwestern Conference contests. North, as an independent, faces a 22 game schedule.

With South's season opener being a non-conference game, Coach Champion does not discount its importance.

"It will be a big game for us," he commented, "because we play one game at a time and play each one to win."

Head mentor Ron Davis views the Madison Trojans' 21 game schedule with optimism.

Madison High Trojan trackmen earned a new two-mile school record, took five first places and earned four second place honors, but were unable to top the Indians as Mascoutah won 62-43 at Madison Tuesday.

"They scored 17 points in the two relays," commented Trojan Coach Charles Steptoe, "while we failed to tally a single point in those events. That is what beat us."

Mike Walker led the field in the two-mile distance, he said, "with a new school record of 10 minutes and 20.8 seconds, but he failed to earn additional points in the mile run."

Carl Bandy, Lamont Garrett, Joe Young and Kelvin Boyd gave MHS a sweep in the 880-yard relays, finishing first, second, third and fourth.

Boyd also won the 100-yard dash in 10.6 seconds with Garrett and Young second and third.

Sprinter Boyd continued his domination with a first-place 57-second dash in the 440. Young picked up the pace with a 25.6 first-place in the 220, while Walker was third in the 880.

In the long jump, Willie Shearry placed third at 16 feet, 7 inches.

Trojans James Turner and Ivan Simms earned second and third in the shot put.

Turner then threw the discus 121 feet, 8 inches, for second place.

"We've improved considerably," said Steptoe, "over our performance against the Indians last year."

"And we should capture our first win when we meet Dupo here tomorrow at 4 p.m."

Ice hockey meet
Sixteen nine-to-ten year old players of the Granite City Amateur Ice Hockey Association's Squirt division are enroute today to Chicago to participate in a regional tournament with 31 other teams representing their respective states.

The local squad will meet the Wisconsin representative at 10 a.m. tomorrow in first round action at the Twin Ice Forum at Oak Park. A victory would advance the 351-season-record Squirts into the finals Friday evening. The winner will become one of eight in national finals later this month in Detroit, Mich.

Granite City firemen spent 30 minutes Monday fighting a fire at the home of John Young, 2027 Washington Ave., which is believed to have started when papers near a clothes dryer caught fire. The 10:27 a.m. blaze caused about $400 damage.

Extend registration for Mitchell teams

The Mitchell Athletic Club has announced that registration for 7-to-18-year-old youngsters wishing to participate in the club's boys' baseball and girls' softball program for the 1974 season has been extended through next Monday and Tuesday.

Individuals may register for the program, which will begin in late May or early June, either day from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m. at the Mitchell Grade School gymnasium for a $4 per person fee. Information is available from Secretary Myron Merz at 931-1218.

The three baseball mentors agreed that team morale is good, the players have worked hard in preparing for the season, and "we are out to win."

South golfers swing into action Monday
Granite City High School South Warriors will tee off Monday at 4 p.m. against Mascoutah at the Arlington Heights Golf Course to open the 1974 golf season here.

Warrior mentor Wayne Williams told the Press-Record, "We have 24 boys out for the team this year and if they all want to work hard at it, then we can be a good team before the season is over."

"Golf is more of an individual sport," says Williams. "Seven players comprise a team, but as others improve their games, they too could see action."

Of the 24 golfing Warriors, three are returning lettermen—juniors Don Gresco and Mark Harbison, and senior Brad Bickhaus.

"If we would have had four lettermen," concluded Williams, "but Bill Skirball is out with a broken leg."

After meeting Mascoutah Monday, South will host Belleville Althoff at the local golf course at 4 p.m. Wednesday.

The new North High school will open its season Tuesday, April 2, when the Stealers travel to Belleville East for a 4 p.m. meet.

Hlava said it would cost approximately $15,000 to replace the building and that value of the contents destroyed in the fire was approximately $20,000. He said he kept "all types of things" stored in the warehouse including the garden chemicals, plant and grass foods and some lumber.
The owner said he believed the fire was started by children. He reported that he had secured a rear door in the warehouse that was found by firemen to have been pulled open.
Fire Captain Elmer Smith said the blaze was an "intensely hot fire, fed by intermittent explosions."

Delay apartment rezoning

Action on a recommendation by the City Planning Commission that a tract of land at 2700 Adams St. be rezoned for construction of a 12-unit apartment building was deferred by the Granite City Council Monday night after residents objected to the project.

It was the third time the request by Robert Lombardi for rezoning of the tract from an R-2 (single-family district) to an R-5 (multiple dwelling district) had been aired.

After nearly an hour of debate on that project and another controversial issue involving a request for a use permit to build a medical building, council members referred both projects to its Planning and Zoning Committee for a later report.

Delegations representing those in favor and against the apartment building project filled the council chambers to express their views to the aldermen who have the alternative of either approving or disapproving recommendations by the plan commission.

The plan to build a 12-unit apartment building with off-street parking in the 2700 block of Adams Street was approved by the planning commission in a March 14 meeting until more information concerning building plans could be provided. Minutes certified to the council by the plan commission said the March 14 vote recommending approval was 7 to 1.

Mrs. Lombardi spoke in behalf of the project, noting that the area now consists primarily of apartment units and that only a few residential dwellings are near the proposed apartment construction.

She said the structure would be a two-story brick building with six two-bedroom units and six one-bedroom units, and that problems of drainage had been worked out with the city engineer.

Mrs. Marvin Waggoner, speaking in behalf of the opposing delegation, said there were more dwelling units in the proposed area than the building then outlined by the developers and that the project would devalue residential property as well as create traffic problems.

She said the group had presented signed petitions to the planning commission protesting the project, but that after the February plan commission meeting in which action was deferred to March 14, some of the objectors failed to receive their notices of the March hearing date until the day of the hearing.

She also questioned the legality of the vote, noting that the plan commission members first questioned whether they had a quorum, but proceeded with the hearing on information that the commission chairman, David Morgan, could vote if his vote would decide the issue.

Several aldermen challenged the propriety of the vote on this basis and Alderman Gerald Parmley, a member of the Planning and Zoning Committee, moved that the matter be referred to that committee with instructions that it make a recommendation to the council in the March 25 meeting.

The same action was taken on a plan commission recommendation for approval of a request for a use permit by Harvey Bonivar, instead of the present R-2 classification, at 1012-1014 W. Pontoon Road, for construction of a medical building to house three physicians' offices.

John Krokovich, a realtor representing Bonivar, exchanged sharp words with Alderman Walter Nunn and Steve Basarich after Krokovich, speaking in behalf of the medical building project, said he thought the plan commission vote was proper, because the same vote given the apartment building project also applied in his case.

Krokovich criticized Basarich for a remark that "when you have apartments you just attract flunkies." Basarich had made the remark during the discussion on the Lombardi project.

"I've been in a lot of cities that have lot of fine apartments occupied by a lot of fine people," Krokovich said. "I've told Krokovich to get back to a discussion of his own project."

The realtor said that Granite City medical buildings to help attract all the doctors it can get. Nunn said the project would create a drainage problem and Alderman Emerald Dawes said "I'm against building anything on that side of the tracks because of drainage problems."

Harold Gattung, whose property adjoins the site on which the medical building is proposed, said the structure would deprive his family of its privacy and devalue his property. Gattung also had protested that project at the plan commission hearings in February and on March 14.

The council approved without discussion the plan commission recommendation to approve a special use permit requested by David Isbell and Delene Williams to operate an antique shop at 2809 Madison Ave. in February and on March 14.

Massive victory by Cong. Price

Cong. Price received 20,036 votes in Madison County and 22,717 in St. Clair County.

The totals indicate lighter balloting in St. Clair, which is entirely within the 23rd Congressional District; the district's boundaries include only part of Madison County.

Bonars received 2,160 votes in this county and 2,530 in St. Clair County for a total of 4,690.

$1 city auto tags— for senior citizens

An ordinance under which city auto tags will cost senior citizens only $1, but which will increase the cost to other motorists who fail to buy the tags before May 15, was approved on final passage by the City Council Monday night.

Alderman Gerald Parnelly who sponsored the bill said the reduction in auto tag costs for persons 65 or older will "give the senior citizens some tax relief." Normally, the car tags which are supposed to be displayed on cars May 1, cost $5 for passenger cars, with a graduated upward cost for trucks depending upon weight. The bill provides that auto license stickers will be issued to senior citizens by the city clerk "upon being furnished satisfactory proof of age by drivers license and ownership by registration at the time application for the license is made."

In all other instances, however, the previous rate of vehicle licenses will remain unchanged for those who purchase them prior to May 15. Only exceptions are "horse drawn vehicles" and motorcycles for which the fee will not increase after the deadline date.

The normal cost of vehicle licenses, and the cost of the license after May 15 in parenthesis, is:
Passenger vehicles $3 ($5.50);
1-ton trucks, $8 ($10.50); 1-2 ton, $10 ($12.50); 2-3 ton, $12 ($14.50); 3-4 ton, $14 ($16.50); 4-5 ton, $16 ($18.50); over 5 tons, $25 ($27.50).

Calvo leads House voting

Four state representative nominations were decided in the 56th Illinois Legislative District Tuesday, going to Democrats Horace L. Calvo of Granite City and Joe E. Lucco of Edwardsville and Republicans Robert J. Walters of Alton and Everett G. Steele of Glen Carbon.

Rep. Calvo, seeking a fourth consecutive two-year term, led the 11-person Democratic field with 14,458 votes and Lucco, a school official, received 13,261. Rep. Leland J. Kennedy of Alton is retiring from the General Assembly.

The winning team, endorsed by the Madison County Democratic Central Committee, won nomination — and a chance for probable November victories — by a decisive margin in the primary balloting.

Closest to them was a former state representative, Dan O'Neill of Alton, a lawyer, with 6,563. Gov. Dan Walker had endorsed O'Neill and Rep. Calvo.

Fourth was Mrs. Carmen Deist Kerr of Bethalto, who described herself in the campaign as a "pretty and honest" candidate. She garnered 5,319 votes, slightly ahead of David Partney, Granite City sheet metal contractor, who received 5,225.

Next were Wendell Durr, Edwardsville, and Mrs. Ethel A. Petri, 75, of 2448 Benton St., a 60-year resident of Granite City, died at 12:10 a.m. Wednesday at St. Elizabeth Hospital. She had been ill six weeks and a patient at the hospital one day.

Mrs. Petri was a member of St. John United Church of Christ, and belonged to the VFW Auxiliary, Dan Walker had endorsed her. She had been ill six weeks and a patient at the hospital one day.

Surviving are three sons, Willard Padgett of Galesburg, Ill., Walter Padgett and Police Lieutenant Leo Padgett, both of Granite City; three grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements are given in the obituary column.

Completed returns for the 23rd Congressional District show the Collinsville resident winning with 16,897 to 15,513 for Fields, 7,740 for Mrs. Carolyn Chapman of St. Louis, and 6,201 for Dick Allen, Granite City lawyer.

Madison-St. Clair County breakdowns list 10,705 and 1,192 for James Chapman, 2,116 and 11,397 for Fields, 3,438 and 4,302 for Mrs. Chapman and 4,072 and 2,129 for Allen.

The Council approved an expenditure of $500 in motor fuel tax fund to relocate the combined sewer line from the alley south of Market street to where the existing sewer crosses State Street south of Market. The work is necessary because of broken pipe under the north approach to the sewer overboard which has blocked the existing sewer line.

The police report for February listed 25 adult charges filed, and one juvenile case which was a felony and which was referred to juvenile court. A check for $125 was received from the office of the circuit clerk.

The treasurer's report said general fund receipts in February totaled $152,198. Disbursements were $42,553; and the city had a bank balance of $127,473 at the beginning of this month.

Arrested at home Robert North, 35, of 2660 Edwards St., was arrested at his home by Granite City police at 4 p.m. Tuesday and charged with aggravated battery on a complaint signed by Harold Wells, 1306 Grand Ave. Wells alleged North beat him in the home in the 2600 block of Grand Avenue Sunday.

North pleaded innocent to the charge in court here and was released on posting $100 and $4,000 recognizance bond.

Shrine Club blood drive Tuesday

The Tri-City Shrine Club's annual "Blood Bank" drive, in which any non-affiliated person may participate to cover the blood needs of his or her family for a one-year period, will take place Tuesday at Nameoki 12 and Madison St.

Avery Schermer, blood chairman for the local Shrine club, said today the group will conduct a single blood drive this year instead of two, with donations accepted Tuesday from 8 a.m. until 7 p.m. at the Shrine Club, 1300 Pontoon Road.

Final plans for the program should be made at a 7 p.m. dinner meeting today at Tempel's.

Survivors include his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lamon (Julia) Lancaster; one brother, Gary Lancaster of San Diego, Calif.; and one sister, Miss Kathy Lancaster, at home.

Funeral arrangements are given in the obituary column.

Briggs, Bowles Establish 4 Venice polls

4,446 advantage here enroute to a 12,000 — 10,951 win. Much interest developed in former County Recorder of Deeds James F. Briggs' campaign to end the 20-year tenure of former East St. Louis Mayor Alvin G. Fields as Democratic state central committee man.

Completed returns for the 23rd Congressional District show the Collinsville resident winning with 16,897 to 15,513 for Fields, 7,740 for Mrs. Carolyn Chapman of St. Louis, and 6,201 for Dick Allen, Granite City lawyer.

Madison-St. Clair County breakdowns list 10,705 and 1,192 for James Chapman, 2,116 and 11,397 for Fields, 3,438 and 4,302 for Mrs. Chapman and 4,072 and 2,129 for Allen.

The Council approved an expenditure of $500 in motor fuel tax fund to relocate the combined sewer line from the alley south of Market street to where the existing sewer crosses State Street south of Market. The work is necessary because of broken pipe under the north approach to the sewer overboard which has blocked the existing sewer line.

The police report for February listed 25 adult charges filed, and one juvenile case which was a felony and which was referred to juvenile court. A check for $125 was received from the office of the circuit clerk.

The treasurer's report said general fund receipts in February totaled $152,198. Disbursements were $42,553; and the city had a bank balance of $127,473 at the beginning of this month.

Arrested at home Robert North, 35, of 2660 Edwards St., was arrested at his home by Granite City police at 4 p.m. Tuesday and charged with aggravated battery on a complaint signed by Harold Wells, 1306 Grand Ave. Wells alleged North beat him in the home in the 2600 block of Grand Avenue Sunday.

North pleaded innocent to the charge in court here and was released on posting $100 and $4,000 recognizance bond.

Some instances Republicans "crossed over" to vote Democratic ballots

In the past, several youthful patients have required blood transfusions and 20 and 30 pints of blood to aid their recovery, he explained.

"We invite any person to take part in the blood bank who feels like offering this protection to his or her family and, at the same time, aid the cause of assisting seriously burned children at the Cincinnati center," Schermer said.

The chairman said that no appointment is necessary to donate blood and commented that a large Red Cross unit will be assigned to the five-hour program to insure donors spend a minimum period of time at the clinic.

More than 100 Shriners are expected to participate in the one-day drive, he added.

Paddlers' stock, dues increase

A $50 increase in the price of Paddlers' Swim Club stock from $300 to $350 was authorized by the local organization's board of directors Tuesday evening at an executive meeting in the library of St. Elizabeth Hospital.

Also raised were club dues to $75 from $60 annually and summer membership assignments were increased to $105. Summer memberships are available to non-member families on a limited basis for one season only.

Al Barnes, Jr., Paddlers president, cited higher costs in all areas of operation for the increases. Persons wishing to purchase stock or are interested in being assigned summer memberships may contact Don Grable, at 877-4015, for information.

Appointed as Paddlers' representatives to the Southwestern Illinois Swimming Association (SWISA) were Harold Becherer, Mary Jo Hein, and Jerome Bogue.

The association consists of about eight area swim clubs and supervises competitive swimming meets and an annual conference championship event.

Preparations are underway to begin maintenance and repairs at the swim club's grounds, 2121 Johnson Road, as soon as weather permits, Barnes said.

Improvements are planned to the adjacent parking area. A fair amount of repair and maintenance work is anticipated, he added.

Plans are being made to open the non-profit swimming facility on Memorial Day.

Depression problem of Senior Citizens

It is easy to become depressed and think no one cares when you grow older, become hard of hearing and have trouble seeing. Evening Kiwanis Club members were told at their Monday meeting in Charlie's Restaurant.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Paddock, president and secretary respectively of the Golden Age Club, and Mrs. Ruby Corbit, president of the Kirkpatrick Homes chapter of Senior Citizens, were guest speakers. Mrs. Corbit noted that there are 34,000 senior citizens in Madison County and 8,000 in the Quad-City area. Their group has increased its membership in just a few years from five to more than 300.

The senior citizens clubs visit elderly shutins and nursing homes in an effort to bring a little happiness to others, the speakers related.

Currently the senior citizens are in need of a public address system, that will cost $350 to use at their meetings. Paddock said. Some of the people don't attend their regular meetings on the second Tuesday of each month because they can not hear. Anyone wishing to donate toward the purchase of the system may telephone Paddock at 876-7901.

President Howard Etherton announced that the club's membership chairman, William Hayes, will announce details of a membership drive soon. The president also announced that the club will hold a peanut day in the near future.

'Respect for Law' week proclaimed

"Respect for Law" week was proclaimed by Mayor Paul Schuler this week to supplement programs sponsored by the Optimist Clubs aimed at combatting crime and disrespect for law. The week's observance was proclaimed for May 1 through 7.

The mayor's proclamation sets out that "the problems of crime touch and affect all segments of our society undermining and eroding the moral and economic strengths of our communities and their citizens."

He said there still is a reluctance on the part of many citizens to involve themselves in actions to insure the protection, rights and well being of all. Mayor Schuler urged that "all citizens of Granite City join with the Optimists in carrying the message of respect for law to other citizens, and by example, exercise responsible citizenship."

Hairdressers Workshop

Tino Cosentino, Florissant, Mo., cosmetology instructor and a past styles director of the St. Louis Cosmetology Association, was the guest artist of the Elite Hairdressers all-day workshop conducted this week at the Granite City School of Beauty Culture.

The morning session for the Hair Fashion Committee related to new trends in styles and body, and the afternoon session was for members and student members. Serving as models were Lois Curtis and Marilyn Roberson.

Other members of the Hair Fashion Committee who attended were Earl and Marcella Tucker, Brenda Cant, Dorothy Line and Betty Smith, Affiliate president.

Poet Frost is Thorngate program

Mrs. Clara Schilling paid tribute to the Irish in the table decorations and a dessert luncheon she served last week at her home, 2323 Lynch Ave., prior to a meeting of the Thorngate Garden Club.

Ceramic hands holding containers of tiny "flowers," created by the hostess from green gumdrops, were placed amid the artistic table appointments.

Miss Jean Bethel gave the program, focusing her remarks on the life of Robert Frost. She read several of the poet's widely-known works and gave a biographical sketch of his career. Conforming to the program theme, roll call was answered by naming the title of a Frost poem.

Mrs. Schilling presided over the business session in the absence of Mrs. Betty King, president, who is hospitalized. Welcomed back by the members was Mrs. Mary Markham, who is recuperating from a hip fracture and a lengthy hospital stay.

Plans were made for the annual "Guest Day" program in late spring. A special visitor at the meeting was Mrs. Lucille Mercer of Bay City, Mich.

Others in attendance were Mesdames Frances Polley, Marilyn Deatherage, Lillian Delpo, Wanda Kincaid, Rejahl Miller, Caroline Moser, Helen Polley and Patricia Polley.

Past Chiefs meet in Collinsville

The Past Chiefs Association of the Pythian Sisters met Monday at the home of Mrs. Linda Schillingman in Collinsville for a noon luncheon and monthly business meeting.

Mrs. Ella McKittrick, president, presided and gave special recognition to Mrs. Nettie Conary and Marsha Montague who observed birthdays this month.

During the afternoon, games were played with prizes going to Mrs. Nell Hutchison, Mrs. Conary, Mrs. Lillian Chepley and Mrs. McKittrick.

Mrs. Chepley invited the group to meet in her home, 2507 Iowa Ave., on April 15.

'Poison proof' home

By CATHERINE R. MAUCK
Madison County Extension
Adviser-Home Economics

Consider the array of cleaning products available to today's homemaker, and you can easily understand that every home contains products that could poison your family. And pre-school children are most often the victims of poisoning due to carelessness in the home.

Mothers face the problem of encouraging a youngster's natural curiosity and at the same time preventing possible disasters that may come as a result of his exploring.

It's easy to say, "Keep household chemicals and medicines locked up, or out of the reach of young children." But putting this wise advice into practice takes some thoughtful planning.

The average home doesn't offer much space for additional storage, but it is possible to reorganize the existing space, setting up child-proof, safe storage areas in which to keep non-food items.

GRANITE CITY PRESS-RECORD

In addition, here are other precautions you can take:

—Keep all household chemical products in their original containers. The National Clearinghouse for Poison Control Centers says many accidental ingestions of household chemicals occur when homemakers transfer products to a cup or glass for a particular use.

Small children assume the liquid is something to drink, since they cannot discriminate between foods and non-foods.

—Keep the product in view while in use. A moment's pause to answer the telephone in another room may be all the time needed for a toddler to reach the unguarded container.

—Store non-food products with special care. All household cleaning agents should be kept in upper cabinets or on high shelves.

Too often, homemakers casually store cleaning supplies under the kitchen sink or in easy-to-open cabinets. Paint thinner, lighter fuel, pesticides, fertilizers and similar materials should be kept in metal closets with locks, preferably in the garage or outside storage area.

—Keep all medicines in a locked cabinet.

—Never call medicines candy in an attempt to make them palatable to a child.

—Be sure containers are empty when you discard them. —Keep on hand the emergency number of your local Poison Control Center. If the center is not listed in your directory, call your hospital for the number and list it with your other emergency numbers.

Democracy in action demonstrated once again in Madison County and Illinois as parties nominate November candidates; voting was light

One candidate in Tuesday's primary election was surprised by the results of "There's a star-spangled banner waving somewhere," he lost.

Another permitted comparisons between himself and George Washington. He won a nomination. The temptation apparently is strong for many candidates to seek to "wrap themselves in the flag," and certainly citizens who took the trouble to vote this week were performing a patriotic duty as well as exercising a hard-earned privilege. It was truly "democracy in action."

There were no major surprises in the Madison County balloting on Tuesday.

Although criticized for seeking to dictate the nominees of its party, the County Democratic Central Committee proved itself able to accomplish that task, with one notable exception.

Miss Evelyn Bowles, veteran chief deputy clerk to retiring County Clerk Eulalia Hotz, captured the nomination with ease in a three-way race, although she had not been chosen for the party slate.

Other countywide Democratic victories also went to experienced individuals. Sheriff John Maeras and County Treasurer George Musso gained renomination, the latter by a relatively narrow margin, and Acting Education Service Region Sup. Harold E. "Gene" Briggs gained the superintendent nomination. The three will be opposed in November by Republicans who had no opposition in the primary.

In accord with the statewide results, voters in this county strongly supported U. S. Senator Adlai E. Stevenson, Democrat, and his Republican rival, George M. Burditt. While both nominations were decisive, "America First" Daily rolled up substantial numbers of GOP votes.

For state treasurer, Alan J. Dixon, the incumbent from Belleville, was renominated by Democrats and Republican Harry Page led here and statewide.

Cong. Melvin Price was renominated with ease for a 16th two-year term.

For the Illinois House of Representatives, the two "slated" candidates won more dramatically than had been anticipated. They are Rep. Horacio Calvo of Granite City and Joe Lucco, Edwardsville, a school administrator.

With two of the three House seats, likely to go to the Democrats, Republicans in the November Robert Walters and a local realtor, Everett Steele.

This county piled up a lead for Robert B. Maucker, seeking a contested Appellate Court judicial post, and also nominated Victor J. Mosele for a closely-fought Circuit Court judicial position.

There were three hotly-contested district races for County Board nominations to the County Board in the Quad-Cities. Winners were Chouteau Township Supervisor Walter Sparks, unseating Albert E. Doerr; Daniel J. Partney, who defeated incumbent Board Member Carl V. Buehler; and Nameoki Township Supervisor Louis Whitsell, who gained renomination to the County Board.

A number of party precinct committeemen positions also drew competition, some producing surprise results.

Although the overall voting turnout was light — far below the total Madison County registration — the presence of 61 candidates for 29 major offices and nominations served to attract considerable interest in the primary balloting, particularly on the Democratic side. Although Democrats will be strongly favored here in the fall, citizens can be thankful that generally speaking — both parties nominated competent candidates Tuesday.

There will be ample time — more than seven months — for the general election platforms and issues to be delineated in detail.

Government plan usurps local powers

To the Editor:

St. Louis Mayor John Poelker's 1974 legislative package has been called "a bundle wrapped in the best intention, but one which should be marked, 'Handle with care—explosive proposals inside.'"

Perhaps no more appropriate description could be used in connection with at least one of the deceptively camouflaged sticks of dynamite in this bundle of legislation proposed by Mayor Poelker, namely SLACOG, the St. Louis Area Council of Governments.

St. Louis politicians have been attempting for years to find a way to maneuver the consolidation of the city and county.

But each time such metro schemes for the balling out of the City of St. Louis by county residents has been put on the ballot, the voters have turned it down.

Now these politicians have discovered a way to bring St. Louis City, St. Louis, St. Charles and Jefferson Counties, East St. Louis and other Illinois cities into arcawide government, complete with taxing power, without going to the bother of giving people a chance to vote: SLACOG.

A merger by legislative fiat, which gives the people no voice whatever in its creation, SLACOG—which will usurp powers of local governments on both sides of the river, and will be ruled by appointed rather than elected officials—is being slyly but swiftly brought into being by public officials.

The citizens of Missouri and Illinois can stop this legislative monster from coming into existence only by promptly informing their legislators in Jefferson City and Springfield that they oppose this latest scheme or merger.

This then is the explosive in the Mayor's package—SLACOG, a bomb which will blow up in our faces unless citizens take action now.

$555 million spending boost in state's budget

(Springfield Scene)

Governor Dan W. Walker has proposed an appropriations budget of $7,886,000,000 for fiscal year 1975, out of which he actually plans to spend $6.7 billion.

These totals represent only $26 million in appropriations increases, or a 3 per cent rise, but a planned actual spending increase of $555 million amounting to a nine per cent hike.

It is a budget that attempts to answer questions, but instead raises more questions during a year of projected economic uncertainty.

While it appears Governor Walker has arrested the rate of increases in appropriations—or authority to spend—the substantial cuts have come in capital improvement programs to be obligated.

Proposed spending for operations and grant of state departments generally show increases.

Gov. Walker this year is proposing to cut the total capital improvements program of the state by $132,714,900 from last year's levels, in such areas as environmental protection, corrections and mental health.

In the General Revenue and Common School Fund portion of the budget—the portion that directly affects state taxes—the Administration is proposing appropriations of $4,478,000,000, an increase of $170 million.

Spending from the General Revenue Fund for operations of state government and grant programs such as public aid and education is projected to increase by $215 million in fiscal 1975, or about 5 per cent.

The spending estimates may be low, particularly in education and public aid. While the governor has proposed a $138 million lump sum increase for education for both operations of schools and teacher pensions, estimates of need to fund the school aid formula alone are about $170 million.

In public aid, estimated needs from state funds for aged, blind and disabled and other programs may be budgeted too low.

To balance the expenditures with revenues, as required in the State Constitution, Gov. Walker's solution is precarious. He is projecting an increase in revenues from all sources of $514 million to $6,579,000,000 in FY 1975 and a General Revenue Fund increase of $202 million to $4,555,000,000 in FY 1975.

This is based mainly on inflationary trends, estimating state lottery income liberally, and assuming state revenues by freezing the amount of local revenue sharing from the state income tax at current dollar levels, and dipping into projected surplus carried over from the current fiscal year.

If this is correct, the budget would not balance.

Illinoisans are expressing grave concern with the increase in estimated actual state spending of $1,148,000,000 during the first two years of the Walker Administration.

This does not, even under the pressure of inflation, indicate a "bare bones" approach to state spending.

Residents are equally troubled with the governor's spending estimates in such large areas as welfare and education.

His budget may be understated by more than $30 million in state funding of school aid under the existing formula.

And he appears to have not accurately anticipated increases in welfare costs which will likely occur due to the slowdown in the economy this year.

Also, to base revenue estimates on an inflation increase factor is a dangerous game to play because, among other things, consumer spending is trending down and this will affect state income.

The same inflationary pressures also increase the costs of operating state government, which means there will likely be very little increase in available net state revenues anticipated.

While some claim the Illinois economy usually performs better than the nation as a whole, the effects of the energy crisis and materials shortages appear not to have been fully recognized by the governor.

In the case, state revenues will not meet the performance levels set by the governor.

In an uncertain economic year such as this, it is unrealistic and inappropriate to propose a sales tax relief program—particularly one that will provide only $1.79 in tax reduction during the year for every man, woman and child in the state.

At the same time, the governor is proposing that local government revenues be increased by $22 million, which come out of state income tax receipts, be frozen at last year's dollar amounts, and local shares of the road fund be reduced.

These two actions, totaling $22 million, could lead to local tax increases.

State ready to aid consumers against fraud

By WILLIAM J. SCOTT

Illinois Attorney General As citizens of Illinois we are protected by the toughest, most effective, far-reaching consumer laws in the nation.

With the legislature's passage last fall of my key consumer protection bill—the Consumer Fraud and Deceptive Business Practices Act—Illinois is fast becoming a nation-wide example of positive action in the interest of consumers and honest, legitimate businessmen.

In previous columns I have given advice on how to avoid fraud traps. But suppose you do fall victim to fraud. How can the Attorney General's office help?

What can the Attorney General's Division of Consumer Fraud and Protection do for you?

If you feel you may be the victim of fraud, please don't hesitate to contact the Attorney General's office. The address is: Division of Consumer Fraud and Protection, 500 S. Second St., Springfield, Illinois 62769. General Wm. J. Scott, Director of Consumer Fraud and Protection, 500 S. Second St., (217) 525-1090, CHICAGO — Attorney General Wm. J. Scott, Division of Consumer Fraud and Protection, 134 N. LaSalle St., Chicago, Illinois 60602 — (312) 793-3580.

Please emphasize the words "don't hesitate." If you aren't sure it is fraud—contact us. If it only involves a few dollars, or cents—contact us.

Our lawyers will determine whether or not it is possible fraud and whether or not the case would fall within the Attorney General's jurisdiction. If solving consumer complaints. The Attorney General's offices are free.

I included the telephone number of our two main Consumer Fraud offices because the Attorney General's Consumer Fraud and Protection Division has 19 branch offices throughout the state, and there may be one in your area. If so, our central office will tell you the location and hours of the office nearest you.

It always is best, if possible, for you to talk with us in person about your complaint. The Consumer Fraud and Protection Division has complete investigators who will review the situation with you without prior appointment.

If you cannot come to one of our offices, please write and we will send you a complaint form.

When you visit our office, bring with you all pertinent receipts, contracts, cancelled checks, letters, etc. This will help our attorneys determine possible fraud and jurisdiction.

After an investigator has discussed your complaint with you, the case will be assigned to an attorney who will make the actual determination of law.

This usually takes from four to six weeks. The attorney then will notify you either:

1. That the Attorney General's office does have jurisdiction.
2. That the Attorney General's office does not have jurisdiction.
3. That the case, though not in the Attorney General's jurisdiction, does fall within the purview of another state agency to which we would direct you.

Once jurisdiction is determined in the Attorney General's favor, an attorney within the Division of Consumer Fraud and Protection will write a letter to the businessman concerned, telling him the nature of your complaint.

Upon receipt of our letter, if the businessman does not respond in a manner which clearly demonstrates that there is no substantial claim, a hearing may be set on the matter.

Both you and the businessman will be notified by mail of the time, date and place of the hearing, for which you both must be present. At that time the businessman will have an opportunity to explain the situation to one of our attorneys.

In the last five years, settlements within the Illinois Attorney General's Consumer Fraud and Protection Division have accounted for approximately $8 million in cancelled contracts, cash refunds or exchanged merchandise.

Most of these settlements came as a result of the hearings in our offices. So, as you can see, the hearings are an effective means of solving consumer complaints.

However, it sometimes happens that the businessman does not answer the Attorney General's "nature of complaint" letter, or he will not appear for the scheduled hearing.

In these cases, the Attorney General has the authority to issue a subpoena to compel the businessman to appear in our offices.

If the businessman should decide to ignore my subpoena, I have the authority to file a lawsuit in court against the businessman, asking the court to place him out of business until he does comply with our request to appear for a hearing.

This is what I mean when I say the Illinois consumer statutes are eminently effective.

However, I would remind you that it takes your help.

My job is much more difficult if you don't take the time—and the responsibility—to inform the Attorney General's Consumer Fraud and Protection Division of questionable business practices in your community.

25 Years Ago Club workers seek benefits

MARCH 21, 1949

Hyde Park Club and 200 Club employees have been laid off, and 50 of the 150 applied for unemployment benefits. They indicated at the compensation office that they expect the layoff to be no more than a month since they declined to register on the job waiting list at the state employment office. The group included parking lot attendants, watchmen, door-men, shills, drivers, stickmen, dealers and bookies. Instead of making $10 to $30 a day, they are eligible for $20 a week for a maximum of 26 weeks.

funding for energy research and increased bonding authority for business to meet pollution control equipment costs incurred by regulations.

He omitted a system of industrial incentives using tax credits and a modern capital recovery system to encourage investment in turn provide new job opportunities.

Also being questioned is the projected performance of the new state lottery when similar lotteries in other states are now experiencing a substantial dropoff in receipts.

Many are encouraged by the governor's recognition of the need to complete the $1.85 billion of supplemental downstate freeways, but much more information is required on the timetable to accomplish this objective.

THE VOICE OF AMERICA

Today's Health News

Published by the American Medical Association

When Cliff Watson was two-and-a-half years old, he fell backwards in a chair and bit into his tongue. The wound might have required only minor first aid for most children, but for Cliff, it prompted a nine-day stay in the hospital and 14 whole-blood transfusions. Cliff is one of 25,000 persons born with hemophilia, a hereditary defect in which the body fails to manufacture the substance that causes blood to clot. A minor nick or scratch could cause him to bleed to death.

Although most hemophiliacs are males, it is the mother who carries and transmits the defective gene that causes the disease. In Cliff's case it was first discovered at the local hospital where he received a penicillin injection in the thigh. Within hours, the site began to puff up and discolor.

Actually, such visible bleeding areas are less grave than hidden ones, internal hemorrhages, set off by a minor bump or tumble, may pour blood into muscle tissue and bone joints, where it accumulates and subsequently destroys the tissue. By the time many hemophiliacs reach their teens, these bleeds have already caused widespread damage.

Cliff, now 12, is an exception and has not suffered extensive damage. Thanks to a new revolutionary program conducted at Children's Hospital in Los Angeles, California, he can ride a bike, attend summer camp, and play touch football with greatly reduced fear of a bleed.

Medical and physical scientists discovered ways to separate the substance, missing in the blood of hemophiliacs, from other blood components, and they learned how to preserve the clotting component, which they called Factor VIII, in concentrated form.

These developments revolutionized thinking about hemophilia treatment. Instead of massive, hospital blood transfusions, Cliff's parents can give him an injection of the Factor-VIII concentrate at home when he believes a bleed has started or if he wants to protect himself against some anticipated stress.

Cliff is by no means cured by this procedure. His body still cannot produce the missing component in his blood, but the home-care routine has greatly reduced his need for extensive hospitalization and physician visits. "Unless something unusual occurs, Cliff only needs to see his doctor twice a year and he's never been hospitalized for a bleed in two years."

Aided by a low Republican turnout in the Chicago area, Downstate Harry Page captured the GOP nomination Tuesday for state treasurer. With 98 per cent of the vote counted, Page, vice-principal of Springfield Southeast High School, had a lead of 31,000 votes over Mrs. Jeannette Mullen, Barrington, a certified public accountant. Page immediately pledged to improve the earnings of the office to ease the tax burden, and to avoid "gimmicks" in investing state funds. The overall Illinois voter participation in the 1974 primary was estimated at one-third of the 6,040,827 registered voters. Page, brother of former U.S. Sen. Alvin Karpis, is a frequent candidate.

Loss for Smith Auto Division

A combination of the energy crisis and price controls will cause a severe profit at A. O. Smith Corp. in the first quarter of 1974, B. Smith, chairman and chief executive officer, said Wednesday in New York. Speaking to financial analysts, Smith said the principal reason for the earnings decline was the abrupt reduction in orders for the company's automobile frames, which will cause the Automotive Division to operate at a loss in the first quarter.

Ricky L. and Roger Parks, all of Granite City, and Army Private Ronald M. Parks of Fort Hood, Tex., four brothers, Melvin, Elmer and Clifford

An autopsy was performed but neither Werner, nor sheriff's detectives would release the results today. Detectives said robbery apparently was the motive as the cash register was found open and several dollars had been dropped on the floor. Three employees and three or four customers who were in the building the night before have been questioned but no one is being held, investigators said. Questioning revealed the bar was closed between 12:30 a.m. and 1 a.m. Wednesday, but several friends of Mrs. McGee were allowed to remain in the building. Percy seeks anti-Nixon image in his presidential campaign

By KEN WATSON
Press-Record
Springfield Bureau

Percy's strategy — good or bad?

There is a difference of opinion on the Springfield political scene as to whether U. S. Sen. Charles Percy is increasingly aggressive criticism of President Nixon will help or hinder Percy's chances of winning the 1976 Republican nomination for President.

Although his relationship with the President has never been close or friendly, Percy in recent days has injected a strident note into his criticism of Mr. Nixon.

On a nationally televised panel show, Percy said that public confidence in Mr. Nixon has "dramatically dipped" and also charged that the President had broken a "binding commitment" to the Senate by refusing to give Watergate prosecutors additional tapes and documents.

He followed this up by revealing through his office that he would not attend the session of the Executive Club at Chicago where the President spoke in defense of his limited cooperation in providing documents from presidential files.

Although it was explained that Percy had a prior commitment to speak in Cincinnati, his failure to appear with Mr.

Nixon was immediately interpreted by press and politicians as a move.

There is a growing feeling that Percy has decided that the only way he can win the 1976 nomination is by achieving national recognition as the leader of an anti-Nixon movement within the GOP.

The reasoning goes that, since Mr. Nixon is known to be bitterly opposed to Percy as a successor, the Senator can't expect any help from the President, anyway.

Nor, it is reasoned, can Percy expect any support from traditional Republican loyalists who resent his increasing attacks on the President.

In the view of Springfield political strategists, Percy is prepared to risk the all-out opposition of many recognized

GOP leaders throughout the nation in the hopes of cashing in on what he expects to be a tidal wave of indignation about Watergate.

According to this strategy, Republican convention delegates in 1976 would be ready to nominate a candidate clearly and early identified as anti-Nixon.

In Illinois, top Republican leaders, although known to be unhappy about the Percy moves, have been reluctant to rise to the President's defense.

They are obviously sensitive to Watergate, but are also mindful of the one million vote plurality received by Percy in the November 1972 election.

There are some indications, too, that an increasing number of important Republicans may privately approve of Percy's attacks on Mr. Nixon and may well share the view that his removal from the presidency would be a political blessing.

It was noted beneath the Statehouse Dome that in a recent speech at Peoria, Cook County State's Atty. Bernard Caray, believed to harbor ambition for statewide office, spoke glowingly of Percy in a week when the senator was waxing critical about the President.

Nor has it been overlooked in the Capital City that — while Percy continues to deliberately widen his rift with Mr. Nixon — he remains on good terms with Vice President Gerald Ford.

Ford, in turn, has been charitable to Percy.

In his last Chicago appearance, Ford told newsmen that Percy should be included on any list of potential 1976 GOP nominees. Not long before the President had snubbed Percy, virtually an avowed candidate, by not naming him in a listing that included Ford, California's Gov. Ronald Reagan, former New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller and former Gov. John Connally of Texas.

Community advisors confer on Madison school district

The Community Relations Advisory Committee of Madison Community Unit Schools met to discuss a film in the office of the superintendent of schools, 1707 Fourth St. John Falchiff, superintendent, presided, and introduced a new member, Dale Crawford.

Mrs. Dolores Folkerts, counselor at Madison High School, gave a report on the February meeting and School Principals Richard Brown, Earl McLanahan, Kenneth Williams, Bernard Long and Porter Cawley reported on the showing of a movie in their schools.

The film, sent out by the office of the State Superintendent of Instruction, entitled "And Then It Happened," is about school bus conduct. It is an account of how misbehavior on a bus can cause tragic accidents.

Mrs. Marguerite Conole, assistant curriculum director, reviewed a meeting with Dr. Warren Neiburg, dean of General Studies and Community Oriented Division, Belleville Area College, and Bruce Wissore, assistant to the president of BAC.

Falchiff reported that the second edition of a newsletter, "Education This Month in Madison," was printed by the Madison Community Relations Council for distribution March 18.

Falchiff also discussed the status of an application for a capital assistance grant for a new junior high school in Madison.

The capital assistance program is a federally-funded project subsidizing districts for new construction. Madison is applying for a grant to cover most of the cost of a new junior high.

The present junior high school is on a two-shift schedule because of inadequate space. The next meeting of the Advisory Council will be held April 2.

Members present, in addition to those mentioned, were: Wade James, assistant superintendent, and Mrs. Donna Thomas, Mrs. Leonora Brown, Robert Naud, Mrs. Joan Boyer, Mrs. Donna Woodard, Mrs. Barbara Madison, Mrs. Betty McCunney and Sister Bernadette, principal of St. Mary's School.

The Community Relations Advisory Committee is the outgrowth of the A-160 Plan, in which emphasis is placed on community involvement in educational matters of the district.

Fertilizer supply revises corn plans

By WARREN W. BUNDY
Agricultural Advisor

Farmers may alter their planned nitrogen fertilizer program for corn because of a tight fertilizer supply for 1974.

They are asking questions they have not asked in the past. One such question is how a reduced rate of nitrogen will affect yield.

Published results of a study made by University of Illinois specialists based upon tests and farm experiences show that corn will yield about 36 bushels per acre in Southern Illinois if no nitrogen is applied.

The first 25 pounds of nitrogen per acre gave a 12 bushel increase. The second 25 pounds gave another 12 bushel increase, and the third 25 pounds an 11 bushel per acre increase in yield.

The fourth 25 pounds of nitrogen per acre increased corn yield another 9 bushels per acre, the fifth, 7 bushels, the sixth, 5 bushels, the seventh, 2 bushels; the eighth, 1 bushel; and the ninth, no yield increase.

Farmers will want to know their plant population per acre if they apply less than the usual amount of nitrogen per acre.

Shifts in both the form of nitrogen used and the time of application are likely to occur if nitrogen supplies are tight.

Research indicates that form of nitrogen has little influence on fertilizer efficiency as long as the particular form is applied correctly.

Commonly used sources of nitrogen include high pressure (anhydrous ammonia 82 percent N), low pressure (aqueous ammonia 20, 33, 37, and 41 percent N solutions), and non-pressure (28 and 32 percent N urea, ammonium nitrate and, to a small extent, ammonium sulfate).

The major concern regarding loss from incorrect application is with the solution materials — both high and low pressure — and urea.

These materials either contain free ammonia or are capable of rapid conversion to free ammonia, which can be lost if not properly applied.

Anhydrous ammonia loss is affected by depth of placement and soil texture. On coarse-textured (sandy) soils, anhydrous ammonia should be placed 8-10 inches deep. On fine-textured (silty, clay loam) soils, the depth of application should be 6-8 inches.

Anhydrous ammonia is lost more easily than the ammonia in low pressure solutions. But these low pressure solutions contain free ammonia and need to be incorporated into the soil at a depth of two to four inches.

The physical condition of the soil also influences the efficiency of ammonia use. Ammonia should not be applied to stoney, cloddy or extremely wet soils. Those conditions prevent adequate closure of the knife furrows.

You also need to consider ammonia toxicity to crops.

If seeds are planted too close to the zone of applied ammonia or if side dress applications are made too close to growing corn plants, the seedling or plants will be injured.

For spring pre-plant application on fine-textured soils, release ammonia at least 12 inches below the intended depth of planting for corn.

Ammonia moves farther on coarse soils than on fine-textured soils. So, on coarse soils place ammonia 7 to 8 inches below when planting depth.

Urea is continuing to gain a larger share of the nitrogen fertilizer market both a low-pressure and non-pressure solution and as a dry granular material. Urea is decomposed to ammonia by enzyme action. The decomposition is rapid at temperatures of 65 to 70 degrees, but slows considerably as temperatures approach freezing.

Regardless of temperature, incorporate urea as soon as possible after application to avoid loss from evaporation.

Evaporation losses are usually highest when soils have pH levels above 7, when soil surfaces are drying, and when soils contain low amounts of clay and organic matter.

Losses from unincorporated urea can be especially high when applied on soil covered by crop residue or a growing crop.

Rebid state insurance

Rebidding of both the life and health benefit contracts for the Illinois State Employees Group Insurance Program for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1974, was announced during the weekend by Nolan B. Jones, director of the state Department of Personnel.

The action, taken on the recommendation of the Insurance Advisory Committee, is necessary to comply with the State Employees Group Insurance Act of 1971 and the Illinois Purchasing Act.

Jones said that because the present health carrier's proposed rates for the same benefit levels are substantially higher than for the current fiscal year, no alternative to rebidding is available to the department.

Fellowships for science faculty

A program of Faculty Fellowships, designed to help teachers broaden their perspective in the applications of science to problems of society, has been announced by the National Science Foundation (NSF).

Application materials are available in the Research and Projects Office at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

John Rodman, SIUE research and projects coordinator, said NSF plans to award 50 fellowships to faculty members who have had five or more years of full-time teaching experience in science, mathematics or engineering at universities, colleges and junior and community colleges.

The fellowship may be used for personal study or three to nine months. Stipends will be based on salary paid during the preceding year.

Travel allowances also will be paid. In addition, NSF will provide the fellowship institution an allowance to assist the institution in meeting tuition and other costs.

Rodman said fellowships will be awarded on the basis of merit. The competition will be divided into two categories: applicants with a doctorate degree and applicants without one.

Deadline for applications is April 1. The fellowships will be awarded May 31.

In Memoriam 33

In loving memory of BILL WALLACE who passed away
March 26, 1971
He did not one a last farewell.
Not even a goodbye.
He was gone before I knew it
And only God knew why.
They say time heals all sorrow
And helps us to forget.
But time too far has passed
How much I miss him yet
God gave me the strength to face life.

And courage to face the blow.
But what it meant to lose him
No one will ever know.
My heart ached with sadness.
My eyes shed many a tear.
God knows how much I miss him
face life.

This long last past year.

Many ways to finance attending college in fall of '74

Now is the time for students who plan to enter higher education next fall to begin taking certain steps that will help to insure that they receive the financial help they need.

Knowing what sources of aid are available, and where to apply for them is an essential first step in this process, the Illinois State Scholarship Commission pointed out today.

Money to pay college expenses comes from one or more of four general sources: the family of the student who is applying for financial aid (including a student self-help expectation, which is asked of the student himself); from the college, which ranks as the second largest source of financial help for college students.

From the federal, state and local governments; and from what might be called "the private sector," which encompasses a huge variety of scholarships offered by individuals and private organizations.

The Family Contribution
Nationally, over half the money used to pay college costs comes from the families of college students.

The amount of money each family would be expected to contribute will vary, just as individual family financial circumstances will vary.

Colleges and scholarship agencies make use of carefully designed "need analysis systems" in determining the amount of money each family would be expected to contribute toward the student's college expenses.

It should be emphasized, the ISSC says, that the concept of the family contributing, to the degree that it can, toward the education of its young, is fundamental in the administration of what are called "need-based" programs of financial assistance.

While there are still sources of scholarship aid which are not need-based, over 75 per cent of the dollars available to today's college students fall into this category.

In this area of financial aid, whatever the family cannot afford to pay toward a college education could become the private sector, which encompasses a huge variety of scholarships offered by individuals and private organizations.

Every applicant for financial aid should make his need known to the financial aid officer on each college campus to which he applies for admission.

The aid officer is in the best position to advise the applicant about available, collegiate financial aid — sources which will vary from college to college. He knows the application procedures and the varying eligibility requirements which govern the awarding of financial aid. He administers many programs through which funds both from the college and from off-campus donors — are funneled to needy students.

The college sources under his control include, in addition to scholarships (often not need-based), grants, student employment and loans. Aid officers also administer certain federal programs of financial aid, the largest of which include:

The Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grant Program (SEOG) in which students from low-income families may receive from $200 to $1,500 per year toward their educational expenses through four or five years of undergraduate study.

The College Work-Study Program in which students may work up to 40 hours per week in order to earn part of the money they need to meet their educational expenses.

The National Direct Student Loan Program (NDSL), in which students may borrow up to $5,000 for four years of undergraduate study, and up to $10,000 for graduate and professional school study.

All three of these programs are available to both full- and part-time students, at both colleges and vocational-trade schools throughout the United States.

Other federal programs, which must also be applied for through the college, include scholarships and loans for students in law enforcement, and in the medical, dental, nursing and allied health fields.

For information and application forms concerning these benefits, contact the financial aid officer at the college of your choice, the ISSC relates.

Direct Help from the Government
Government—principally at the federal and state levels—represents a substantial source of college financial aid.

Reference already has been made to certain federal programs which are administered by the college financial aid officer. Other such sources, for which application is not made to the college, include:

Basic Security Educational Benefits, which provide from $33 to $165 per month for eligible students engaged in full-time college studies, up to age 22.

Annually, $790 million is appropriated nationally for this program, which make it the largest single source of college financial aid in existence. To be eligible, the student's natural parent(s) must be deceased, disabled or retired. Application should be made to any local office of the Social Security Administration.

Veterans Educational Benefits, available to veterans or their survivors dependents, provide a least $220 per month to students engaged in full-time study, up to age 26.

Benefits are also available through the college for part-time study.

To be eligible, the student's parent(s) must have been killed or disabled in the service of the armed forces of the United States. Application should be made to the local office of the Veterans Administration.

Basic Educational Opportunity Grant Program, a new federal grant program which, during the 1974-75 school year, will provide at least $450 million in grant assistance to college freshmen and sophomores who enroll at approved colleges and vocational-trade schools throughout the U.S.

Applications for this new program will be accepted before April or May 1974, but can be requested immediately by writing: Basic Grant Program, U.S. Office of Education, 300 South Wacker Drive, Chicago, Ill. 60606.

The Illinois Guaranteed Student Loan Program is regulated by the Illinois State Scholarship Commission through the cooperation of nearly 1,000 lending institutions, including banks, savings and loan associations and credit unions.

This program recognizes over 600 eligible schools, including most colleges, universities and vocational schools throughout the nation.

Under the terms of this program, college freshmen may borrow up to $1,000, sophomores up to $1,500 and upperclassmen and graduate students may borrow up to $2,500 each year.

Applications and information may be obtained from the lending institution, or by writing the Illinois Guaranteed Student Loan Program, P.O. Box 33, Deerfield, Ill. 60015.

In addition to the federal sources, many states also provide financial assistance to residents who wish to attend college.

The Illinois State Scholarship Commission is the third largest such agency in the country.

The ISSC administers seven programs of assistance to Illinois college-bound youth, including the Illinois Guaranteed Loan Program described above, and the Monetary Award Program.

Through the Monetary Award Program, Illinois residents may receive up to $1,300 per year toward their tuition and fees at any approved public or private colleges in Illinois.

During the 1974-75 school year, at least $55 million will be made available to over 72,000 Illinois students through this program.

Monetary Award application forms must be filed by Sept. 1, 1974. For information and application forms, the student may see his high school or college counselor, or write: Illinois State Scholarship Commission, P.O. Box 607, Deerfield, Ill. 60015.

Other programs of the ISSC include: the State Scholar Program of recognition for high academic achievement; scholarships for bilingual students and bilingual teachers who want to become certified Illinois teachers.

Scholarships for survivors and/or dependents of military men who have been declared prisoners of war or missing in action since 1960; scholarships for survivors of policemen and firemen killed in the line of duty.

And scholarships for survivors and/or dependents of employees of the Department of Corrections killed or almost totally disabled in the line of duty.

In addition to the ISSC, Illinois offers special education scholarships for both undergraduate and graduate students who wish to major in that area.

Information about these scholarships can be requested by writing: Mrs. Thomas Denny, Department of Scholarship Services, 302 State

Private Scholarship Sources
Many large businesses, clubs, organizations and private scholarship agencies offer assistance in varying amounts to students with a variety of career interests.

Examples of these sources include the American Legion, the National Merit Scholarship Program, Kappa Kappa Gamma Sorority, the Westinghouse Educational Foundation, etc.

Information about local and national sources of private assistance for which one might qualify can be obtained from high school and college counselors, and from a variety of financial aid reference handbooks available in school and public libraries.

In seeking all forms of financial aid, students should be encouraged to apply as early as possible, the ISSC concludes.

Auto racing without noise like dancing without music?

By JOAN MURARO
Press-Record

Springfield Bureau
There's a lot more to auto racing than meets the eye; a lot of it meets the ear, and that's where the problems arise with a roar when the Illinois Pollution Control Board adopted noise regulations last August.

Specific numerical (decibel) limits were set out, and immediately the operators began to roar and fans revved to be muffled.

Specific numerical (decibel) limits were set out, and immediately the operators began to roar and fans revved to be muffled.

Specific numerical (decibel) limits were set out, and immediately the operators began to roar and fans revved to be muffled.

Even before anything is done, the committee has had to face the question of what, exactly, constitutes a motor sport.

Anything sporty that is motor-driven that could mean powered model planes, toy boat regattas, and maybe electric toothbrush marathons.

After due, quiet liberation, COMSNAP has devised a set of standards to limit "motor sports" basically to organized activities with rules and regulations applying equally to all participants, under the sponsorship of some recognized group.

"What we didn't want to do," Reid said, "is accidentally protect snowmobile owners, and people riding mini-bikes, who blithely go on, unbothered, into other people's private property and disturb every body around. They have to come under noise regulations."

Attorneys for both sides are finalizing the actual language of the definition.

In many cases, Reid feels, protest has come before people really checked on the problem.

One operator insisted on mufflers for motorcycles and bikes, operating on his track and—after initial screeches (loud) of outrage from fans and participants—"everybody turned around and decided they liked it," he said.

One track at Peoria has been requiring mufflers on stock cars and attendance has risen, rather than diminished, he added.

Ultimately, Reid said, he is looking into claims that certain superpowered dragsters "can't" be equipped with mufflers or "can't" be "one man's opinion," he said. "I'm still looking into that possibility."

One thing comes through loud and clear, though, no final decision is going to make everybody happy. For, as one fan put it in an early hearing as far as he's concerned, "Auto racing without noise is like dancing without music."

Add color to prison products

A prison workshop isn't anybody's idea of the end of the rainbow, but the industrial shops in Illinois correctional facilities should soon be about that colorful.

A. M. Monahan, superintendent of correctional industries in the Illinois corrections department, says that recently the industries had deteriorated to "practically nothing" and in the process of trying to get them turned around, the department took a long hard look at its product.

What is saw, it seems, was "blah." Today, the demand is for color," Monahan says. And color is what the buyers will get—buyers, that is, who qualify to purchase the institution made items. Purchase is limited to any tax-supported body or any corporation chartered as a not-for-profit operation with the state of Illinois.

Through the basic design of the desks is relatively unchanged, the appearance is greatly altered by the use of bold coloring and the addition of Formica tops. To demonstrate the new wares, two black secretarial desks with white tops were recently installed in the office of Corrections Director Allyn R. Sielaff, and Monahan's office has been fitted with an avocado green desk, blending with the prison made green upholstered leather-look chairs.

The new office equipment doesn't really represent preferential treatment, Monahan says. It was decided to put some of the items on display where potential customers might see them, until a new catalog can be drawn up.

The state corrections department's industries produce a wide variety of items, many of them for the department itself or other state departments such as mental health which has obtained bedding and clothing from the Industrial Sewing Department located at Dwight.

The Dwight facility has recently been changed from a women's to a men's institution, but Monahan said he hopes to be able to continue the industrial sewing operations even when the facility has an all-male population.

The women from Dwight will be sent to one of several other locations, including the minimum security facility at Vienna, where the rooms the women occupy will be fitted with combination desk-dressers (in color) which will be made in the updated program at Stateville.

Tax tip—No need to fear long form

Many persons who have successfully managed to finish high school or college or obtain a loan from a bank, or sell a house or take out a driver's license, consider themselves unable to unravel the mysteries of Federal Income Tax Form 1040. For most, this belief is probably unfounded.

The secret is not to let yourself be cowed by the rows of numbered entries on the 1040. Take them one at a time and they are not so threatening. The person setting out to square his annual account with the Internal Revenue Service should first get his income records together. W-2 withholding reports from each employer he has worked for during the year, plus information from banks, brokers, etc., on interest and dividend income the taxpayer has received.

If you are going to itemize deductions (and if you are not may be eligible to use Form 1040A—the short form) you will need canceled checks, receipts and other evidence of deductible expenses: taxes and interest paid, medical and dental costs, charitable contributions, and unreimbursed business expenses.

Next, you'll need the applicable tax forms—the 1040 plus the Schedules for submitting various categories of lists. The IRS usually sends taxpayers the same documents they used the previous year, but if you need one this year you can pick them up at almost any bank or post office, or you can write to the nearest IRS office. One government document, that's indispensable is the Instruction Booklet for Form 1040.

Among other things, it tells you what documents you will have to submit, and how to fill them out.

Now, with all the needed papers on hand, simply start at the top of page one, with your name and address, occupation, etc.

If you are stopped by a question, consult the instruction booklet, which lists 21 steps to be taken, in order, and augments the guidance included in the forms and schedules themselves.

If your financial affairs are too complex to permit you to handle Form 1040 on your own, that fact will soon become apparent.

Persons likely to require professional help in filling their tax returns in most cases are those whose affairs are complicated by factors such as: Large capital gains or losses; The selling of a home during the year;

A large jump in income over previous years that may suggest income averaging;

Self-employment, with several sources of income;

A drastic change in dependency relationships during the year, as through divorce.

But for most people, such complications are rare. Millions obtain all or most of their incomes in the form of wages, salary or commissions.

Announcement of the scholastic honors was made by Dr. Robert H. Farber, dean of the private liberal arts college of 2,345 students.

Schocker on Dean's list at academy

Pyle, McMillon honored at mat banquet

More than 200 persons attended the first Granite City High School North wrestling banquet, sponsored by the Steeler Booster Club, in the school's cafeteria last week.

North's head mat mentor, Walt Whitaker, reviewed his team's 11-3 dual meet season and awarded varsity school letters to participating wrestlers.

"I think that for a first-year school," said Whitaker, "we did well, considering our limited prior experience."

"We met some tough competition through the course of the season, and lost only three dual meets. Those were to teams which according to their records and strengths, should have beaten us."

"We should not lose any ground next season," he concluded; "we have 10 junior lettermen returning and the only problem we will have is filling the heavyweight spot."

Before presenting letters to the team, Whitaker commended 112-pound senior matman Rudy Pyle and senior heavyweight John McMillon, presenting them with special awards.

AWARD WINNING STEELERS flank Coach Walt Whitaker, who guided the GCHS North wrestling team to a 11-3 first-year dual-meet record. During a banquet last week at the new school, 112-pound matman Rudy Pyle (left) received an award as the team's outstanding wrestler and was honored for his state tournament performance. Heavyweight John McMillon (right) was cited for posting mat victories with 10 falls, more pins than any other Steeler wrestler. (Press-Record Photos)

Pyle was honored as the school's outstanding wrestler for his state tournament performance, and McMillon was cited for defeating opponents by the most pins, ten, of any wrestler on the team. Whitaker presented varsity letters to seniors — Chester Fetter, John Hankins, Robert Martin, McMillon, Pyle and Phil Shands; juniors — James Barker, Bill Carr, Dave Hamilos, Randy Hartline, Terry Johnson, Rick Morlen, Neil Pierson, Eric Schmissner, James Starling and Dave Whitsell.

Dinner will be served from 8 p.m. until 9 p.m. and Fred Zettler's band will provide dance music from 9 p.m. until midnight.

MARCH OF DIMES drive is planned May 5 by members of both Granite City High Schools. Making plans at a meeting last week are, from left, clockwise around the table, Kenne Kibort, president of the student council at South; Jo Ann Barco, South committee member; Milton Morris, chairman of the March of Dimes for Madison County; Debbie Williams, South committee member, and Brent Weiss, North committee chairman.

Accept Weaver for next term

Larry D. Weaver, 2108 Nevada Ave., Granite City, has been accepted as a student at Oklahoma Christian College, Oklahoma City, Okla., for the 1974-75 term, according to Bob D. Smith, dean of admissions. Weaver is a 1971 graduate of Granite City High School and a graduate of Crowley's Ridge College.

ACTING PRESIDENT OF SIUC, Dr. Hiram H. Lesar, left, dean of the School of Law at Southern Illinois University at Carbondale, was named acting president of that campus by the SIUC Board of Trustees. He was introduced at a news conference in Carbondale by Ivan A. Elliott Jr., right, of Carmi, chairman of the SIUC board.

Phi Lambda Upsilon honors student of chemical science

Outstanding undergraduate chemistry students in the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign have been honored by Phi Lambda Upsilon, chemistry scholarship honor society.

Among those recognized was Priscilla J. Strange, 3820 John Glenn, who received the Elliot Ritchie Alexander Award, limited to juniors in the School of Chemical Sciences with the highest scholastic averages.

Phi Lambda Upsilon, founded at UIUC in 1899, now has 50 chapters over the nation. In recognizing outstanding scholarship, it is in chemistry what Phi Beta Kappa is in the humanities, Sigma Xi in scientific research and Tau Beta Pi in engineering.

At the UIUC chapter's award banquet was Philip Handler, president of the National Academy of Sciences, a biochemist and UIUC alumnus who later in the evening presented the chapter-sponsored 24th annual William Albert Noyes Lecture.

News articles 'teaching' economics, science here

The newspaper-in-the-classroom concept at Emerson School here continues to make it one of the most talked-about grade schools in this region and in the nation.

There is similar instruction elsewhere, but Emerson is unique in that the news approach is used at every age level, in every classroom and for every subject.

A national magazine has presented this view of the program: When he comes to school every day, the first thing Mark Spencer does is read the funnies. Then he flips to the sports page.

Linda Ohanesian thumbs through the news section of her paper and announces with satisfaction, "We want to know what's happening now." David Gordon, mathematically inclined, complains about the un-wieldiness of newspapers, and then turns to the stock tables. Mark, Linda and David are sixth graders at Emerson Elementary School in Granite City, Ill., and newspapers are about all they get to read all day.

In a startling reversal of the standard procedure—in which newspapers are passed out only for "current events" classes—Emerson uses the daily paper to teach everything from grammar, history and geography to economics, science and math. Traditional texts are resorted to only about a quarter of the time, and most are stacked away in a corner of the basement.

The new program is wildly popular with students and teachers, and according to Principal Alfred J. Wilson, it has had "unbelievable" results. A national test, he says, shows that Emerson students—many of whom come from "deprived" backgrounds in an industrial city of 41,000—averaged a year's extra ground in nearly every category during the first year.

Every morning, each of Emerson's 335 students from kindergarten to sixth grade gets his own daily copy, donated by the paper.

Kindergartners cut out ad products to learn shapes. First graders read the headlines, and older students do their arithmetic by adding football win-loss columns, or by averaging yesterday's bets-per-person at the Fairmount racetrack.

Or they may be asked, after reading about high fuel prices, "At the new rate, how much would 18½ gallons cost?"

A story about how bail is used to reduce jail crowding prompts the question, "Jail and bail—how many new words can you make by changing the initial consonant?"

The ad, "Your Toyota dealer is the big man in the small car" leads to a discussion of synonyms and antonyms for "big" and "small."

Students also play the stock market, learn geography from weather maps and write essays on the meaning of the editorial cartoon.

"Newsprinters are flexible," says Stella Davenport, a third grade teacher. "They can be persuaded at whatever simple or sophisticated level the students' intellects permit."

"Textbooks are usually bland," adds Ken Kindle, a fifth and sixth grade teacher. "Anything slightly controversial is edited."

Another teacher recalls teaching his class about silent e's and the suffix "ist" one day when "rape" and "rapist" appeared on the front page.

"When the kids finally got around to asking about meanings, I explained. There were no giggles. You've got to deal with daily life in this program. If you skirt issues, kids know it."

At the end of the day, students don't always just fold their papers and forget them. Many check out copies to read at home; others borrow editions from their neighbors.

And, according to Wilson, "There's not the usual loss of information after three months' vacation because the kids read the paper throughout the summer."

How do the grade school students fare when they go on to the more difficult texts and disciplines of junior high school?

So far, no definitive answer is available, but an informal survey of seventh-grade teachers suggest that they are doing very well indeed.

And other schools in the area are considering adapting the Emerson newspaper technique to their own programs, the magazine article relates.

Janet Wilson on dean's list

More than 300 students in the college of Agricultural Sciences at Texas Tech University, Lubbock, Tex., made the dean's list during the fall semester. Among them was Janet L. Wilson, daughter of Marion E.

Wilson of Granite City.

The College of Agricultural Sciences is one of six colleges and two schools at the university, which has an enrollment of 21,500 students.

Award contracts for lake recreation area

Contracts totaling $145,870 for capital improvements at the Tower Lake recreation area at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville were awarded by the SIU Board Thursday.

Emil Crook of Edwardsville was low bidder on the general contract totaling $110,680. Other successful bidders were France Plumbing and Heating, Edwardsville, $17,760 for plumbing; Canham Steel Metal Co., Alton, $600 for heating, ventilation and air conditioning; Modern Plumbing and Heating Supply Co., East Alton, $1,242 for heating and refrigeration controls, and Drda Electric Co., Edwardsville, $15,570 for electrical work. In December, SIU trustees rejected earlier bids on the project because they were in excess of the original $91,000 budget proposed for the work. At the same time, the trustees increased the project budget to $150,000, subject to approval by the Illinois Board of Higher Education, and called for new bids. The BHE met in Edwardsville last week and approved the higher limit. Construction costs will be paid from the Student Welfare and Recreation Fund, to which all students pay a quarterly fee. Use of the fund for the construction project was endorsed by the Student Senate.

Recreation area improvements will include: A beach house which will provide shower facilities, lockers and dressing room space for 80 men and 80 women. The building will also include a first aid room, a food preparation area and minimal office space for recreation personnel and custodial services.

A boat dock and storage area which will provide servicing facilities for small sailboats used on Tower Lake. An information and control booth. A bicycle storage and rental service will be operated from the booth.

A covered picnic pavilion which will include fire places, rest rooms and electrical outlets.

Walter Lasslo student teacher

Walter S. Lasslo, son of Mrs. Marie E. Lasslo of Granite City, is student teaching this semester at John F. Kennedy Elementary School, St. Joseph, Minn. A senior at St. John's University, Collegeville, Minn., he teaches the first and sixth grades.

The student teaching program, necessary for certification as a teacher in Minnesota, is directed by the joint education department of St. John's University and the College of St. Benedict. Those seeking certification must student teach from 12 weeks to an entire semester in either an elementary or a secondary school.

St. John's is a private liberal arts university for men, working in conjunction with the College of St. Benedict, a women's college. Both schools are located 80 miles northwest of Minneapolis-St. Paul.

New mental health plan appears to be working

Last fall, a new division within the Department of Mental Health was formed to handle the special needs of the developmentally disabled. It replaced the division of mental retardation and was expanded to include not only the mentally retarded but those with epilepsy and cerebral palsy.

In order to improve the level of service for the developmentally disabled, a seven-point plan was adopted and supported both by the administration and those sponsors of a vetoed bill which would have made the DDD a separate department. And it appears that the plan is working.

Although the name of the Department of Mental Health has not yet been statutorily changed to include "and Developmentally Disabled," it is widely recognized as being a separate division. The official name change will come during the next session of the legislature.

Point number two of the plan was partially fulfilled in December when Dr. Richard E. Blanton, acting DDD deputy director, was named as permanent deputy director. Dr. Blanton is the former deputy director of the department's mental retardation division.

However, the appointment of regional coordinator for DDD in each of the department's seven state regions has not yet been announced.

"At the present time, possible candidates for the appointments are being reviewed by Dr. Blanton," according to a spokesman from the DDD.

Another large area of the plan was the releasing of approximately $10 million in supplemental appropriations for mental retardation. To date, the following have been or will be released, according to DDD figures.

—$1.2 million allocated for grants to community day care centers. Coupled with previous grants, this figure brings the total awarded for fiscal 1974 to $14.5 million.

—$875,000 released for physical plant improvements at Dixon State School. An estimated $1.1 million will be needed.

—$189,462 in grants released to place 194 additional clients in 10 new community living homes for adult retarded. A projected total of $300,000 will be needed in this area.

—$1 million released for physical plant improvements at Lincoln State School.

—$355,600 released for increased operational costs at Ludeman Center in Park Forest.

Park entrance passports sold at postoffices

The Granite City and Madison Post Offices again will issue Golden Passports for the calendar year 1974 at a cost of $10 each as a special service to campers and other outdoor enthusiasts. The pass is good for entrance to designated Federal areas operated by the U. S. Department of Interior's National Park Service.

The passport is available for purchase at all first and second class post offices.

"Golden Age Passports, issued free of charge to any person 62 years old or older during 1973, at the post office, will not be issued by post office this year. The Department of Interior has decided that Golden Age Passports will be issued at national park entry points only."

The Golden Eagle Passports which are available at the post offices cover National Park System entrance fees at designated areas for the purchaser and all persons accompanying him in a non-commercial vehicle used for private recreation purposes.

It is valid only for entrance fees, does not cover Federal Special Recreation Use Fees, and is not transferable. The Golden Eagle Passport does not cover charges by private concessionaires operating within Federal recreation areas.

Early admission program at SIUE

Openings are available in the Dean's College early admissions program at SIUE. Coordinator Howard V. Davis said the Dean's College provides an opportunity for selected area secondary school students who have finished their junior year to attend the university on an experimental basis.

Each student, recommended for the program by his school officials and selected by a university committee, will attend SIUE during the summer quarter in classes with other regularly admitted students. At the end of the summer quarter, the following courses of action will be possible:

—Each student who achieves a grade point average below 3.5 (C+) will return to his high school to complete his senior year; or —Each student who achieves a grade point average of 3.5 or higher may continue study at

SIUE as a regular student or may return to high school to complete his senior year; or —each student who achieves a grade point average of 4.5 (B+) or higher may be admitted to the Dean's College and continue study at the university, or continue study at the university as a regular student, or return to high school to complete his senior year.

If the student elects to return to high school, his SIUE credit will be held for him in escrow. The early admissions program at SIUE has been approved by the North Central Association of Secondary Schools and Colleges and the Office of the Illinois Superintendent of Public Instruction. Further information and application forms are available from Howard V. Davis, coordinator, The Dean's College, Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, 62025, telephone 692-3770.

Terrarium exhibit at meeting

Terrariums created by members of the Cloverview Garden Club were on display at a meeting in the home of Mrs. John Jenkins, 2442 Lynch Ave. The terrariums, in attractive glass containers, were made by the group at a workshop last May. It was noted how the growth of the plants had progressed.

Preceding a 12:30 dessert luncheon a cradle shower was given in honor of Mrs. Bradley Branding. Favors and other appointments in the Jenkins home reflected the occasion and the color scheme was in pink and blue.

Those participating were Mesdames Wm. H. Bradley, Robert McCauley, John Lentz, Kenneth Brokaw, George Ochso, B. C. O'Neill, Fred Orr, Lou Hemming, George Knapp and a guest and former club member, Mrs. Eldon Melkamp. Mrs. Lentz gave the club collect and Mrs. Orr presented a committee meeting with Gilbert Walmesley, principal of Granite City High School North. In a continuing program of planting as a civic project, it was decided to start with three trees in the exterior yard of the school. The trees will be the Dorothea variety of crimson flowering crab. Shrubs and evergreens will be added at a later date, it was disclosed.

"Plants Environment" was the program for the afternoon and dealt with the care of house plants in regard to light, air, temperature and humidity. The topic was summarized by Mrs.

Orr from the book "All about House Plants" by Montague Free. A humorous article by Clarissa Starr on landscaping and foundation planting was read by Mrs. Knapp.

Members of several Granite City garden clubs were in Edwardsville last week to attend a tea in the home of Mrs. Matilda Hansen commemorating the 35th anniversary of the founding of the Edwardsville Garden Club. Those attending were Mrs. George Stearns and Mrs. Wilmer Winter, Garden Study; Mrs. C. E. Eads, Gardennaires; and Mrs. Bradley and Mrs. O'Neill, Cloverview Club.

Mrs. Bradley, president, said the annual meeting of District V, Garden Clubs of Illinois, Inc., will take place March 28 at the First United Presbyterian Church, 201 E. Church St. Collinsville. The Lakeview Garden Club will be host.

Tentative plans were demonstrated by Mrs. George Plagman of St. Louis and district clubs will participate in horticulture and artistic classes of exhibiting, conferring to the theme — "Awakening of Spring" and "Joy of Spring."

District members also are planning to attend the Chicago Flower and Garden Show which will start Saturday at McCormick Place, Chicago, and continue until March 31.

Favors will be made and final plans reviewed at a workshop in April in preparation for guest day on May 14.

St. Ann's Altar Society meets

A St. Patrick's motif was used in the rectory hall of St. Joseph Church for a meeting of the St. Ann's Altar Society.

The tables were covered in white cloths draped with green streamers centered with green candles in crystal holders. Vases of green carnations were placed on each side of a statue of St. Patrick.

Mrs. Margaret Minzes, president, opened the meeting with a review of the Altar Society workshop held at St. Joseph church this month. Alton Deane, president, Mrs. Mayme Millille, presided at the meeting, and guest speaker was Mrs. Mary Lou Walk. A guest attending was Mrs. Geekie, Springfield Diocesan president.

Tentative plans were discussed for the silver anniversary observance of the Rev. Henry Mack's 25 years in the priesthood April 21. Mrs. Minzes announced Bishop William A. O'Connor of the Springfield diocese will give a reception for Rev. Mack and other priests who were ordained on the same day in Springfield. During the social hour Mrs. Peggy Moore conducted an auction of homemade articles. Persons interested in attending the April 4 meeting are invited to write an NSA member, Mrs. Gracy said.

The next meeting will be April 9 with Mrs. Ann Pieper serving as chairman of refreshment committee.

Secretaries hear math instructor

Roy Logan, a math instructor at Granite City High School South, was the guest speaker at a meeting last week of the Tri-Cities Chapter of the National Secretaries Association at Charlie's Restaurant.

He chose as his topic "The Metric System — How It Will Fit in the Future." Logan emphasized that it will not be necessary to learn the entire conversion from the present system, as there will be tables for reference. However, learning how the metric system works will be very important, he added.

Mrs. Salley Gracey, president, presided at the business meeting. Joyce Saulch, chairman of the nominating committee, said the election will be held in May. Mrs. Peggy Moore reviewed ways and means plans.

Future Secretaries of America chairman, Mrs. Charlie Vunovic, gained approval from the local chapter to sponsor a new NSA Chapter in Breeze, Ill. Also discussed were plans for "Secretaries Week" set April 21 to April 27. Hostesses Twila Edmonds and Gerry Sharp awarded prizes to Adrienne Warchol and Irene Willis.

During the social hour Mrs. Peggy Moore conducted an auction of homemade articles. Persons interested in attending the April 4 meeting are invited to write an NSA member, Mrs. Gracy said.

Local area tops national average for zip code use

Quadrant City Postmasters Charles Simmons, William Clinton and Herbert Backs today thanked area postal customers for their regular use of the zip code with mailing addresses.

"Customers in the 13-state Central Region in which Madison, Venice and Granite City are a part leads the other four postal regions with an 89.1 per cent zip code usage. According to recent figures, the national average for zip code usage by mailers reached 87.3 per cent," a statement by the local postmasters said.

The success of the zip code is well established. Its public acceptance has come a long way from that first day nearly 11 years ago when the program was launched in Washington with a special Elmer Ferman version of "Zip-A-Dee-Dee-Dah" that was to be heard in thousands of promotional spots on radio and television around the country, the statement said.

It was on July 1, 1963, that the Postal System's Zoning Improvement Program went into effect.

There was an immediate furor over the advent of zip coding, but the people who predicted dire things for the future of the U. S. Mail as a result of adding five figures to an address have long since been proven wrong, the postmasters added.

"Fortunately, there were those who also recognized that a growing population, a more mobile life style, and a growing volume of mail (it was 30 billion pieces in 1962, 49 billion in 1963, 67 billion in 1962, and now 80 billion) would require an address dressing system more sophisticated than the one that had been used for the previous hundred years," they said.

"There also had been great public controversy in 1962, when the Post Office Department came up with the then radical concept that mail should be addressed by street and number. Before then, mail was sent to a name in a city or town and that individual had to come to the post office to pick it up," the statement noted.

They also said that fears that the zip code would speed the demise of the identity of American place names have proved groundless.

"Just look through the current directory of post offices, and you'll find the continuing existence of such places as Alpha, Ill.; Gas, Kan.; Weeping Water, Neb.; Zap, N. D.; Tea, S. D.; and Luck, Wis.," they said.

"None has been endangered by the addition of the five-digit zip code as part of its mailing address. On the contrary, the residents of these places—as well as those who live in the most congested part of any metropolis—now can be located more quickly, more accurately, and at less cost than would be possible without the mechanized application of zip coding," the three postmasters concluded.

Hard rock, soft musical riffs

If you feel in the mood for some good gutsy hard rock, then Black Sabbath, Johnny Winter and a little gal by the name of Suzi Quatro will surely fill the bill.

"Sabbath, Bloody Sabbath" on the Warner Bros. label, by Black Sabbath, is sure to clear your head. Heavy metal is their trade mark and the boys don't let any of their musical energies go to waste on this one, especially the title track. However, the thing that makes this LP so great is the interplay of hard rock and soft riffs.

These English rockers, with Bill on percussion, Geezer on base, Tony on guitars and bagpipes and Ozzy handling the vocals as well as the synthesizer, have a unique style that seems to grow on you. Drawing cuts such as "A National Acrobat," "Sabbath Cadabra" and "Killing Yourself to Live" lift you from your seat and "Fluff" gently sets you back. This is Black Sabbath's finest yet, especially from the commercial side.

Johnny Winter's "Saints & Sinners" on Columbia is another best effort due to its commercial strong points. This time out Johnny concentrates on tunes such as "Chuck Berry's 'Thirty Days,'" "Van Morrison's 'Feedback on Highway 10,'" the Jagger-Richards "Stray Cat Blues" and Allen Toussaint's "Blinded by Love."

They don't sound much like the originals as Johnny lays each one down in his own wailing hard rock style. With his long white hair and fingers flying a mile a minute, he adds some real refreshing new sounds to these oldies.

Some good recordings from Traffic's very successful road tour of Germany. The excellence of Steve Winwood is again outstanding in the LP are Joplin's "Maple Leaf Rag" and Morton's "King Porter Stomp."

Keeping Up With The Classics: Eugene Ormandy and The Philadelphia Orchestra, with pianist Daniel Epstein as soloist, play "The Yellow River Concerto" in an RCA release. This was the concerto, composed in China, which Ormandy featured during his recent tour of the country. This recording was made before the tour. The concerto borrows heavily from such composers as Liszt, Rachmaninoff and Grieg. The beautiful "Pines of Rome," also featured on the tour, is offered by Ormandy on the flip side.

Degree in industrial engineering proposed

The Southern Illinois University Board of Trustees has authorized granting of a bachelor of science degree in industrial engineering at SIUE, subject to approval by the Illinois Board of Higher Education.

Most of the courses required for the degree are already being offered by the departments of mathematics and engineering technology in the School of Science and Technology and by the department of management science in the School of Business.

Seven new courses will be needed to implement the degree program and these can be funded with a minimum of new academic program dollars from the state, trustees were advised.

The proposed degree does not duplicate existing programs in the metropolitan area served by SIUE.

According to the two schools primarily involved, there is a current "healthy demand for industrial engineering both as an entry-level career specialty and as a specialty through which employed adults can upgrade their careers through evening and weekend university courses."

William Allen, member of the SIUE Board of Trustees, asked the administration to agree that the program be evaluated at some future time, and that the program be subject to cancellation if it does not develop as anticipated.

Some plants are dangerous

With the arrival of spring comes the greening of poisonous plants that can cause serious problems to inquisitive children.

Awareness of native Midwest poisonous plants that are likely to be growing in a child's play area can help you sidestep trouble by getting rid of the plants or teaching your child about them.

Here is a list of some common plants that look harmless, but can make a child deathly ill. Flower garden plants: leaves and flowers of lily-of-the-valley; underground stems of iris; the young, tender stems of larkspur; and the foliage and roots of Daphne's breeches.

Vegetable garden plants: leaf blade of rhubarb and the foliage and vines of tomato and potato plants.

Ornamental plants: seeds and pods of wisteria; the green berries of red sage; and the berries and foliage of yew.

Trees and shrubs: cherry tree twigs; peach tree leaves; twigs and foliage of wild cherries; foliage and acorns of oaks; shoots, leaves and bark of elderberry; and the bark, sprouts and foliage of black locust.

Plants in wooded areas: all parts, especially the roots, of Jack-in-the-pulpit; and the apples, foliage and roots of mayapples.

Plants in fields: all parts of buttercups; all parts, especially the berries, or nightshade; and all parts of jimson weed.

You can never be sure which plants are toxic, so to be safe, rather than sorry, teach your child never to eat or put in his mouth any plant or berry not commonly used as food.

If your child should eat a harmful plant, call the doctor immediately for advice. For instance, inducing vomiting is not always recommended. Such treatment may damage the digestive tract if plants containing corrosive juices have been eaten.

Attend national BPW legislative meet

The national legislative conference of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs held at the Mayflower Hotel, Washington, D. C., attracted 1,200 delegates, the largest attendance recorded at a national meeting.

Recognition was accorded to Illinois for the largest delegation, numbering 100. Eleven members of the Granite City BPW club were in the group.

RICHARD BRAWLEY, 21, of 2033 Lindell Blvd., who was injured fatally in an auto accident on State Aid Route 35, this week. Services were held Wednesday morning at St. Elizabeth Catholic Church. Two others were injured seriously in the accident.

Ask the Governor

Q. Could you tell me how to proceed in order to obtain state employment? Formerly I was employed as a carpenter at Kankakee State Hospital...Name withheld, Martinton.
A. There are about 60,000 employees under the Personnel Code, the state's merit employment system, in agencies under the governor's jurisdiction. Under the merit system, persons are hired and promoted because of demonstrated ability, performance and service. Unfortunately the job you had at Kankakee was not under the Personnel Code. Approximately 2,000 jobs under the governor are exempt as well as jobs under other elected officials including the elected general and the secretary of state. The state police and state universities operate their own merit systems.

The state merit system is administered by the Department of Personnel in cooperation with the Civil Service Commission and the Personnel Board. Merit positions in state government are filled from lists of persons who have qualified by passing open competitive examinations. For certain job titles there are given on a daily or regular basis; for job titles with low turnover, tests are given when needed. This varies by county.

Debbie Calvert in mystery play

"The Haunting of Hill House," featuring Debbie Calvert of Granite City, will be the next play presented by the Oakland City College Theatre. The dramatization of Shirley Jackson's novel will be presented in Stinson Hall Auditorium at the college in Oakland City, Ind., tonight, Friday and Saturday.
Members of the cast for the spring play include Debbie Tolson as Elvira and Debbie Calvert as Theodora, who are caught in the mystery of Hill House. Kirk Kemp is playing Dr. Montague, who is an investigator of the supernatural phenomena that takes place in an old mansion.

Debbie Calvert is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Calvert, 2830 Namecki Road, Granite City. She is a social science major and is in her sophomore year.

No, No, Nanette!
tickets on sale

All seats for the musical comedy No, No, Nanette, are reserved and tickets are on sale now between 10:30 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. in the GCHS-North cafeteria. Dr. Gou Michelson, head of the English and Speech departments at Granite City High School North, reported

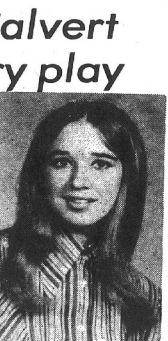

In addition to administering tests, the department has nine career counselors in the Springfield and Chicago offices to discuss employment opportunities with the state and to answer questions.

To make an appointment with a recruitment division counselor, write the Illinois Department of Personnel, Room 500, State Office Building, Springfield, 62706 or Room 327, State of Illinois Building, 160 N. LaSalle St., Chicago, 60601.

As a result of my drive to cut back on state spending, fewer persons are being hired than two years ago. The state has been hiring approximately 25 percent of the more than 2,000 applications received monthly. In 1972, the state hired about 8,000 people; in 1973, this was cut to 6,223.

However, the Department of Personnel continues to recruit qualified personnel, especially women and minorities. The Affirmative Action program, which I established last fall, will eliminate inequities in hiring and promoting of state employees. It assures every citizen, regardless of sex, race, religion or national origin, of equal consideration for employment and promotion in state service.

April 11—Burroughs Corp. and United States Marine Corps, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.; April 16—State of Illinois Department of Personnel, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.; McDonald's Corp., 9 a.m. to 12 noon.
April 17—Aetna Life and Casualty Co., 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.; Alton Public School District No. 11, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.; April 18—S. S. Kresge Co., 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.; April 22—Berkeley School District.
April 24—Army Reserve, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.; April 25—St. Louis Public Schools, 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.; April 30—Alton Public School District No. 11, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

DEBBIE CALVERT

"We are expecting a sell-out crowd and I want to personally encourage everyone to buy tickets well in advance," she emphasized.
The play is to be presented Thursday and Friday, March 28 and 29, beginning at 8 p.m. in the GCHS South auditorium. Tickets in advance are 75 cents for students and $1 for adults. At the door they will be $1 for students and $2 for adults. Doors will open at 7 p.m. on performance nights.
